Jeff Shore and Jon Fisher

✓ Critics' Pick

With Trailer, the ingenious Texan collaborators Jeff Shore and Jon Fisher have turned the Derek Eller gallery into a walk-in surround-sound aural-sculptural nonnarrative machine. It's like walking into the living brain of an encyclopedia: multiple projections appearing on walls, electronic sounds generated from nowhere, circuit wires everywhere. Model contraptions on walls light up; peer in, and you'll see that what's going on inside is projected via teeny cameras on walls. Scenes of a phone booth, a trailer park, a tuba, and others jog the mind and fascinate the eye, making you piece it together until you merge with the machine and become art-Borg.
